

CLEAN WATER

For the better part of her life, Myrna was forced to spend hours walking miles just to retrieve one of the most basic elements of human survival—water.

The journey was not safe, and her eight children were often left to fend for themselves while she was gathering the day’s rations. Even after obtaining water, her family frequently became sick because the water was polluted by unseen bacteria or contaminated by a dead animal.

Thanks to generous Send Relief donors, Myrna and her kids now have safe drinking water in their backyard!

Your gifts helped build a system of water pipes connected to a pool of natural springs that carry fresh, clean, mountain water directly to their home.

Myrna was overwhelmed with gratitude after the project’s completion.

“We no longer have to carry water to our house!” she said. “This was exhausting and extremely difficult for my children. We had to walk to the river every few days ever since I was a small child. Now, I feel so blessed because I have an abundance of water right here at my house! This is such a great blessing!”
